YOU vs COMPETITOR (legacy baby-food majors + D2C challengers)

YOU — Early Foods	COMPETITOR — legacy baby-food majors + D2C challengers
■ 30 live Google creatives - Early Foods Pvt Ltd ■ Clean-label focused; Shopify D2C + global store live ■ hello@earlyfoods.com / +91 8049670521 ■ Category: parents research hard, then repurchase 18-36 months	■ Legacy multinationals (Cerelac class): shelf ubiquity + generational trust ■ Other D2C baby-food brands: subscription bundles + parent communities ■ Homemade (the real alternative): free, trusted, labour-intensive

3 LEAKS WE FOUND (live-verified)

LEAK 1: Fear is the real competitor Parents weigh the risk of trying you against a known multinational. Your ads and pages lead with product instead of the reassurance stack: age fit, full ingredients, what is NOT inside.
LEAK 2: No parent UGC engine The highest-converting asset in baby food is another parent's face and words - and there is no visible system collecting, clearing and rotating parent videos into ads.
LEAK 3: Baby food is a 2-year subscription priced like a product A parent who starts at 6 months stays 18-36 months. Stage bundles (6m/9m/12m/18m) with auto-replenish and WhatsApp reminders are missing.

3 QUICK WINS (14-DAY ROADMAP) → FIX LEAKS + LOWER CPA

DAY 1-5: Rebuild the path around the reassurance stack Age selector, full ingredient list, 'what's not inside' panel, certifications and parent reviews above the fold - each ad routed to its matching age page, not the homepage.
DAY 6-10: Start the parent UGC engine Offer a starter bundle to 50 existing customers for a 20-second video ('what I feed my 10-month-old'); rotate the top 12 as paid creatives monthly.
DAY 11-14: Launch stage-based subscription bundles 6m/9m/12m/18m bundles with auto-replenish, WhatsApp reminders and a 'grow with us' upgrade path - priced like the two-year subscription it is.
